value. Pok  mon games for Nintendo Gameboy can also net owners a pretty penny. Red, Blue, and Yellow versions can cost several hundred dollars each. A sealed copy of Pok  mon Red Version sold for $405 in 2016, while the same game sold for $500 in January 2019. Nor is that the biggest auction of one of the games     February 2019 seller started bidding on eBay at more than $800 for a sealed copy of Pok  mon Crystal Version. A yellow Furby / Alexas Fotos, PixabayIf your Furby was too creepy for you to even take it out of the box as a child, you're in luck. A few years ago, original 1998 Furby recently sold for $700. Another limited edition toy from 1998 went for $405. Even used they can fetch high prices. A working Kid Cuisine Furby sold for $130 back in 2016, while in early 2019, a set of 12 used Furbys sold for $500. The Dracula-inspired video game Castlevania is particularly valuable these days. Sealed versions of the game sell for upwards of $800, depending on the game and the condition. A 1994 Sega Genesis version of Castlevania: Bloodlines has sold for as much as $750 in the past, while Nintendo SNES editions of Castlevania: Dracula X regularly sell for more than $1000. A used copy of the 1990 PC game went for $585 in March 2016. A copy of M.U.S.H.A. for Sega Genesis in its box / Seismic. AmazonThe 1990 shooting game M.U.S.H.A. is much-coveted on eBay, where it can sell for up to $500. Even items that aren't in totally pristine condition are worth good money. A copy of the game that comes with a damaged manual was listed for $425 in early 2019, while one currently listed on Amazon (seen above) is available for $372. First Edition Legend of Blue Eyes White Dragon reinforcement boxes have sold up to $1450. Only one card from one of those backup boxes is worth $550, even if it has been played and has moderate wear. Hot Wheels 67 Pontiac GTO / iStock.com/CTRPhotos Hot Wheel Treasure Hunting cars, released for the first time in 1995, remain very popular with collectors. A toy version of a 1967 Camaro recently sold for $509, and a set of 12 cars in the original box sells in the range $1100 to $1550. Even an incomplete set can go up to $800. A Ferrari RC / ZANTAFIO56, Flickr // CC BY-SA 2.0Vintage RC Cars are worth several hundred dollars each, even used. An unopen Kyosho 4Runner sold for $700 in March 2016, while an incomplete, used Tamiya RC Ferrari in the early 90s was sold for $140 a few months later. (One of the Ferrari 312B models on fetches between $100 and $200 on eBay). A used car Nitro RC sold for $2000 in January 2019. Vintage LEGO Seal Sets can get around $500 (for a King's Mountain Fortress game), while the used sets are significantly less worth, especially if they have no instructions or a box. However, a set of used castle without a box can be worth between $125 and $190 if it is complete. And they're not just decades-old LEGOs that are valuable. A 2007 Star Wars Millennium Falcon has recently been sold for $1800.
